LONG BIO

Queen is an artist devoted to giving nature a voice.

Imagine radio play music that helps you feel more connected to yourself, your community and to the Earth.

After a lifetime of nomadic travels through both rustic and urban scenes,

Queen of the Green now utilizes her research of the collective mind, sound science and permaculture to design music that assists in healing the body, mind and spirit.

Isn't it about time that we have a positive female vocalist as a role model?

As we are designing the new paradigm through social media,
it is imperative that we have role models that are embodying sustainable values.

For centuries, women have been used as pawns
to sell an agenda within the music industry.
From "Virgin" to "Whore",

Now is the time for woman to be supported
for her truest power:

She is a messenger of Earth.

Queen's musical journey began as a nomadic, hip-hop artist.

Growing to love many genres of music, she branched out to the world of E.D.M and dance music through working with Fadi Awad , winner of the "Akademia" awards under her old alias "Natalia."

They created a hit song called "Music is my Lover." (10 thousand hits on Youtube.)

After years of navigating the underground hip hop and festival culture of E.D.M, she decided to create her own sound.

" The Raw Files" is an example of her integrity to art. The album is recorded live, improvised and is created utilizing solely the power of her voice and her looper pedals.

Her Music is featured on Shaw TV's "When Paintings Come Alive" and her song" She's like the Wind" is featured on the International Nepalese Benefit Album.

She's opened for the likes of artists such as Desert Dwellers, Deya Dova and The Luminaries.

Her current projects include the production of an electronic musical as well as multiple collaborations with producers throughout Canada, Mexico, Europe and the US.

Proceeds of album sales/ ticket sales and merchandise will be directed to non-profit organizations supporting the protection of forests, oceans and humanitarian causes.
